Fabric pieces for freezer paper foundation piecing can be cut to size with templates, adding a 1/4" seam allowance, OR use oversized shapes that will be trimmed. Just make sure that the shape area is covered. With freezer paper foundation piecing, all fabrics get pressed to the freezer paper.

Freezer Paper Foundation Piecing Overview - This technique uses the same numbered pattern that you might use in Paper Piecing, but you don't stitch through the paper. Instead, you pre-cut the freezer paper templates, press them onto the fabric, cut the shape out, adding extra for seam allowance. Then you use the freezer paper as a stitching guide to create those sharp points. When the block is done, the freezer paper pulls off easily because it has not been stitched through. Pros

Printing freezer paper foundations You can trace the foundations onto freezer paper, or you can print them directly onto the paper if you have an inkjet printer. (I've read it isn't a good idea with a laser printer.) I cut a piece of freezer paper to 8 1/2" x 11, the size of the regular paper I usually feed through the printer.

A couple of years ago, I learned how to use freezer paper as a foundation for paper-piecing and it revolutionized this technique for me. It is fast, does not require removal of the paper foundation, and the foundation can be reused at least a dozen times, saving time and paper. I have provided a PDF pattern for the block "Woven Star."

Freezer paper is apparently not only for applique - check out this method for using it as a foundation, with a tutorial from Sandi at Piecemeal Quilts. Different tutorials seem to "require" different tools - I already use and love a rotary cutter and quilting rulers but I am going to look for a Clover finger press at the fabric store next time I go, they look nifty.

The manufacturer recommends a 20 stitches per inch for paper piecing when you intend to tear away the foundation. You could choose to leave this foundation in your quilt for stabilization (no removal). June Tailor, Inc. then recommends using 10 stitches per inch. At this time (10-3-18) it's on Amazon with a Prime supplier for about 27¢ per sheet.
